Fostering a Growth Mindset

A growth mindset is the belief that:

- Hard things are worth the effort.
- Perseverance builds important skills.
- Mistakes and failures are learning opportunities.

Developing a growth mindset in your students teaches them to:

- Use the power of yet. “I can’t do this . . . yet.” or “I don’t understand this . . . yet.”
- Believe they can do things that are hard or difficult for them.
- Focus on solving and creating rather than perfection.
- Accept mistakes and use them to learn and improve.
- Understand that working and exercising our brains can help us improve.

These Growth Mindset Bookmarks are positive, daily reminders that they CAN succeed.
